❖ Leadership Wooster

Leadership Wooster Class of 2024 explores agricultural sector of Wayne County

In October, the Leadership Wooster Class spent a beautiful day exploring various factions of agriculture in Wayne County. They started the day at The Ohio State University – CFAES Wooster Campus with Dr. Andy Michel, Assoc. Dean and Director of The Ohio State University CFAES Wooster campus and Dr. Kris Boone, Asst. Dean and Director, Ohio State ATI, who gave an overview of the college and its community impact.

Kurt Steiner of Steinhurst Farms then gave a presentation on Leadership in Agriculture and a Dairy Industry Update. It was an eye-opening experience for everyone to hear about the work that goes into running a dairy farm. Traveling to a different part of the campus to Skou Hall, Dr. Jon Witter, Assoc. Professor, and Ben King, Program Coordinator, Construction Technology, with assistance from some students, showed examples of the different technologies in agriculture.

The class then traveled to the beautiful Secret Arboretum, where they got a tour from Jason Veil, Curator. They learned a lot about the different gardens and the plants that grow there. For lunch, everyone was treated to a delicious Certified Angus Beef gourmet taco bar. Tracey Erickson, Sr. Executive Vice President of Marketing, gave an overview of the Certified Angus Beef Brand, and the class toured the meat lab and heard from Sherry Leggett, Director of People & Culture, on Servant Leadership.

That afternoon, the bus took the class out to RMD Dairy, where they saw the advanced technology and robots that help the farm to operate. They interacted with the cows and calves, and were even treated to delicious milk and cookies from the generous hosts!

To finish the day, the class traveled to Lincoln Way Vineyards for a tour of the winery and a delicious wine tasting. It was the perfect way to wrap up an excellent day!
